Understanding the Need

- Traditionally, the field of history was guided by a male dominated perspective.
- Historiography lacks basic information about women's action in history.
- Women's contribution to society and the struggles for women's rights remain largely invisible.

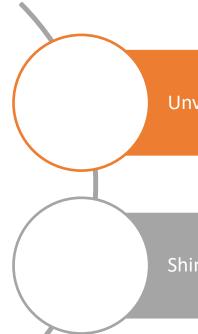

Importance of historical representation: By focusing on women's triumphs and normalizing the success through the public display of women's statues and monuments, these historical misconceptions and misrepresentations can be addressed.

Our ambitions

Shining a light on women's history: HerStory's contribution to gender equality

Components of HerStory

Key Findings

- Both stakeholders and young individuals actively contributed feedback regarding the relevance and portrayal of women in historical contexts. This inclusive dialogue shed light on the hurdles associated with effectively incorporating gender perspectives into historical narratives and educational frameworks.
- Educational Resources: Educational resources are deficient and outdated in terms of highlighting women's contributions to history.
- Educational Initiatives: The European Report highlighted the importance of integrating gender perspectives seamlessly into educational curricula and public historical narratives, promoting a more inclusive understanding of history.

The HerStory Map

Development of HerStory Map, Online Platform, and Mobile App:

- This work package builds upon the outcomes of the research to create a transnational women's history map accessible via an online platform and mobile app.
- The map will feature information and photos of noteworthy women, alongside engaging activities for exploration.

- HerStory Map physical excursion evaluation: The partners will develop tailor made questionnaires through which the participants of the HerStory excursion will evaluate the experience they had, the knowledge they gained etc.

Horizontal strategies to ensure Gender Mainstreaming

- Gender-Inclusive Language: Ensuring that project management documents, communication materials, and deliverables use gender-inclusive language that avoids reinforcing stereotypes or excluding any gender.
- Diverse Partnerships: Collaborating with partners from diverse backgrounds to ensure a holistic approach to gender equality.
- Inclusive Planning: Ensuring that project planning and design take into account the diverse needs, experiences, and perspectives of both women and men.
- Monitoring and Evaluation: Regularly reviewing and analyzing the materials to assess the project's impact on women and men, identify any gender-related barriers or challenges, and make adjustments as needed.

Horizontal strategies to ensure Gender Mainstreaming

- Awareness Campaigns: Our media campaigns raise awareness about women's historical achievements, promoting gender equality.
